GREAT THINGS FOR BRAZOS.

Commissioners Court to introduce New System of Public Road Building.

The Eagle yesterday afternoon gave an account of the members of the Commissioners Court going to the black lands to inspect the system of road making that is done with heavy road machinery propelled by a traction engine.

The party made splendid connection on their trip and got back last night, much earlier than they expected. They went first to Ennis and drove out into the country and inspected the various roads leading into the city. These roads had been constructed with the heavy steam power machinery and were simply fine. Monday morning they went to Waxahachie and called on the county judge of Ellis county and talked with him about their system of road making. He kindly gave them all the information he could and with some of the members of his court accompanied our commissioners to the country where the road gang was at work. They found a large traction engine, pulling three big graders at one time, with the result that a splendid road was being made, and made in a hurry.

Judge Board and the commissioners were delighted with what they saw, and as Mr. Edge expressed it, "felt ashamed that they had delayed so long, putting in a system so far superior to the one they have been using."

The selling agent of this kind of machinery had already called on the court here, and by appointment met them in Waxahachie, and without further delay an order was placed with him for a full outfit of steam power road machinery. The outfit ordered consists of a 20-horse power traction engine, three graders, wheel scrapers and two big plows. The machinery will arrive in January when the old system of mule power road making in Brazos county will be supplanted chinery.

Two large audiences were charmed yesterday afternoon and last night with the illustrated lectures given by Judd Mortimer Lewis and Bert Blesington of the Houston Post. Both are artists in their line. They came to Bryan under the auspices of the ladies guild of St. Andrews church, and quite a neat sum was realized by the ladies.

Might Have Been Put Differently. We cut the advertisement below from a New Zealand paper. "Notice. The Maoris who are breeding pigs in Taharua, such as Mrs. Peter and Mr. Sam Yates, are supposed to look after their pigs and keep them away from rooting my paddocks, or else if they do not I shall shoot every pig I come across. Secretary L. Howell."

This is decidedly one of the things that might have been put differently. Westminster Gazette.
